GERMANY OFFERS TO ABANDON RESISTANCE

Swarm Of I.W.W. Heads For Port Arthur, Tex.

PORT ARTHUR, TEXAS, July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Imminent influx of I. W. W. crusaders estimated to total more than 20,000 finds this city of 22,000 outwardly unconcerned.

Announcement by John Shusskie, secretary-treasurer, New York, that the pilgrimage has begun from all over the country by foot, freight train and by sea, protection in of the rights of the members, said recently to have been spirited away from here and severely beaten by unknown parties, finds local authorities volunteering little information as to plans for a reception.

Corroboration of the report by John Aaron, secretary of the Marine Transport Workers' branch, San Francisco, likewise leaves them noncommittal.

What is plainly outspoken, however, is that all persons without visible means of support, will be arrested.

In event of their convictions as vagrants, it is declared possible that they will be assigned to work on road and bridge building gangs throughout the county.

NEW YORK, July 19.—(By the United Press)—A vast army of unemployed, descending on Port Arthur, Texas, will attempt to eat the town into bankruptcy, officials of I. W. W. said here today. The advance was ordered in retaliation for beatings administered to three members of the organization and the plan of campaign calls for a policy of passive resistance somewhat on the order of the German policy in the Ruhr. Thousands of men will fill the jails and eat Port Arthur out of house and home, John Shuskie, secretary of the Marine Transport Workers said here today. They are descending on the town from all quarters. They will not carry a weapon nor will they argue the merits of the case. They will just eat and sleep there without funds probably in jail.

Raps Slow Drivers

DETROIT, MICH., July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Sitting in a court room made famous by Judge Charles L. Bartlett, who slapped big fines on speeders, sent them to jail and even to the psycopathic ward for observation as to their sanity, Judge Edward J. Jeffries yesterday took a rap at slow drivers and told them to speed up.

"Driving slowly causes more accidents than driving fast," Judge Jeffries said. "It gums up traffic. There are more accidents under 25 miles an hour than there are above."

Germans Want British To Inform The French

PARIS, July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—The German government, through its embassy in London, is striving to have the forthcoming British note on reparations convey to the French government Germany's willingness to cease passive resistance in the Ruhr subject to certain concessions on the part of France. This information has reached the French government on what is regarded as unquestionable, but unofficial authority.

These concessions appear to include:

FIRST—Withdrawal of the Franco-Belgian troops of occupation with the exception of a mere skeleton military force which would in the diplomatic sense be "invisible."

SECOND—Permission for the German officials and functionaries expelled from the Ruhr to return to their posts, restoring the local administration of all civil services as it existed before January 11, when the occupation took place.

THIRD—That the French government agreed to restore the currency if confiscated.

These conditions, it is declared here, would be unacceptable to the French government because they are unaccompanied by any definite assurances or guarantees that reparation payments would be forthcoming.

Likewise, it is explained, the French government feels that between France, which is enforcing the peace treaty, and Germany which is refusing to execute it, it would not be equitable that Germany should impose conditions instead of yielding to the French demands.

Germany, it is asserted, must cease her passive resistance, after which the French government would be disposed on its own account favorably to consider Germany's views, whereas it could not receive them in the nature of an ultimatum.

The British government, it is understood already is aware of the French ministry's feeling on this subject.

Tragic Mystery In Finding Of Bodies In Undertaking Rooms

KANSAS CITY, MO., July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—The bodies of W. M. McClure, 54, prominent Kansas City undertaker, and Mrs. Eula Thompson, 35, his book keeper, lay today in the silent dusk of the undertaking rooms in which they met death last night. Inquiry continued by the police failed to reconstruct acceptably from meager details the circumstances which led to the final tragedy.

McClure was married and had two daughters. Mrs. Thompson, a widow, long had been employed by his firm.

Fred Webb, negro porter, found McClure bending over Mrs. Thompson's body at the bottom of an elevator shaft last night and was ordered by McClure to call a physician. When two physicians arrived to examine the body, McClure left the room. A search for him a short time afterward, revealed his body lying upon an undertaker's slab in the morgue, a knife, used in post mortem examination, protruding from his breast. McClure's eye glasses had not been removed. There was nothing to indicate violence in his death.

Besides McClure and Mrs. Thompson, no other person has been shown to have been in the undertaking rooms when Mrs. Thompson died. A door open into the elevator shaft, and blood upon the floor of the elevator at the bottom of the shaft, indicated that she had fallen from a room in which coffins were stored, two stories to the floor of the elevator.

Dr. H. E. Moss, deputy coroner, expressed belief that Mrs. Thompson fell into the unguarded pit when she went to the store room.

Dr. Moss asserted that an extremely nervous temperament attributed to the undertaker might have caused McClure to take his own life in the belief that discovery with Mrs. Thompson's body would bring a court ordeal which he dreaded to face.

Precisely what happened just prior to discovery of the tragedy, has not been revealed.

Police continued inquiry into reports that Mrs. Thompson, angered by McClure's recent irritability, several times had threatened to resigned.

Friends of McClure asserted he had become nervous by long vigil at the bedside of his wife, an invalid.

Possibility that McClure was swept to his death by suicidal tendency was suggested in the memory of the suicides of two brothers.

Mrs. McClure has not been told of her husband's death.

The coroner announced that no inquest would be held.

Husband May Hold Secret Of Wife's Murder, Locked Behind Unconscious Lips

PITTSBURGH, PA., July 19.—(By the United Press)—Hovering between life and death, both legs severed by a freight train, Patrick Coyne lay in the West Penn Hospital today with the secret of the brutal murder of his girl bride locked behind unconscious lips. Detectives waited outside the hospital room not to prevent his escape, but to question him at the first moment the doctors will permit, regarding his movements yesterday and his knowledge of the crime. Julia Coyne, his pretty wife of 18, was found nude and brutally murdered behind locked doors of the honeymoon cottage at Port Perry. Relatives broke into the house to find the dead body, a revolver with an empty shell, and signs of struggle. The girl was declared to have been dead 12 hours previous to the discovery yesterday morning. Coyne, the husband, is a brakeman. He went to work at three o'clock Tuesday afternoon on the eve of the crime, fell between two cars at the South Duquesne yards and suffered the loss of both legs above the knee. He may not live. The Coynes had been married but five months. Frequent quarrels, however, were reported by relatives and on several occasions it was said the brakeman beat his bride. He was of a jealous disposition. Until Coyne's movements can be carefully checked, it will not be known if he can be suspected of the crime. The probable time of his bride's death compared with the hour of his arrival at work will determine if he is in any way involved. If Coyn dies, police fear all hopes of solving the dramatic murder mystery, will die with him.

French Have Every Intention Of Holding On To The Ruhr

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Special Cable Dispatch,)
(Copyright 1923)

PARIS, July 18—France has succeeded beyond her own expectations in the matter of reconstruction. The latest data available hardly can describe the extent of the undertaking. For instance nearly twenty-three thousand factories were destroyed, but in the last five years fully twenty thousand have been reconstructed in their stead. About 742,000 homes were damaged or destroyed, and 590,000 have been rebuilt or completely replaced. The population of the devastated areas is 400,000 below the prewar census, but revenues gathered from these regions have climbed from 600,000 francs in 1919 to two billion francs in 1922 and this year will amount to three billion francs or approximately $176,000,000 annually, according to the present rate of exchange.

This is a marvelous showing and it is putting cheer into the French people. But there is a striking les-

CINCINNATI, O., July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Chester Park, Cincinnati's largest summer amusement resort, was partly destroyed by fire which early today swept the northeast side of the park and attacked the rear end of the shops of the Cincinnati Car Company, adjoining the park. Half a dozen of the park's largest concessions, including a two-story dance hall and amusement pavilion, were totally destroyed as were also twelve partly completed street cars in the car company's plant.

The origin of the fire which is said to have started in a long, winding water way for boats, was not determined.

Chester Park, as well as the Cincinnati Car Company shops, is owned by the local traction company. The park devices and buildings are insured for $150,000.

Dog Forces Use Of Five Police To Arrest One Man

CLEVELAND, O., July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—While patroling his beat in the Public Square last night, a policeman noticed an intoxicated wayfarer staggering, but he failed to notice the man's bull terrier until he attempted to arrest the man. As he approached, the dog sprang from behind his owner, placed himself between his master and the policeman and exhibited two rows of sharp teeth, cleared for action.

Several times the officer tried to take his quarry, but each time met with the same resistance. Finally he called the station for help.

Several officers were rushed to his assistance, but the terrier held his own and repelled each rush of the attackers.

At last the dog gave his attention to one policeman who rapped on the pavement with his night stick. While the animal was thus engaged, five policemen tenderly laid the wayfarer in the patrol wagon. Before the dog could more than yelp with rage, the wagon was on its way to headquarters.

Child Swallows Turpentine; Life Saved By Physician

Swallowing about three ounces of turpentine almost proved fatal to Winona, sixteen months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ruggles of Swauger Valley, back of Sciotoville, Wednesday. Fortunately the child did not drink more of the turpentine or the case might have been attended with fatal results.

Mrs. Ruggles used a tablespoonful of turpentine in the family wash yesterday morning. After using the bottle she replaced the cork and put it on a table on the porch. While she was busy washing the baby got hold of the bottle, removed the cork and swallowed about two ounces of the fluid before the mother could get to her. Mrs. Ruggles was attracted by the child coughing and choking.

Dr. Martyn Taylor of Sciotoville, was called and administered an emetic to remove the turpentine from the child's stomach. She was in a serious condition for several hours, but later rallied and today was reported much better.

Baker and his family had been visiting relatives in Huntington and were going north from Portsmouth. At the Jewett farm road, the Jewett machine came out on the right hand side of the road. Baker alleges, taking the turn to the left.

A collision seemed imminent and the only way to avoid it was to take to the ditch, he says. Fortunately no one in the Baker car was injured and the only damage to the machine was the wreck of the one wheel.

OHIO FARMERS FACE 8 MILLION LOSS THRU SLUMPING WHEAT PRICES

COLUMBUS, O., July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Slumping wheat values may mean heavy losses for Ohio farmers possibly to the extent of more than $8,000,000, Charles V. Truax, state director of agriculture, estimated today.

Alaska May Make Several Big States, Hoover Says In Speech

ANCHORAGE, ALASKA, July 19.—(By the Associated Press).—A pledge that steps would be taken within three months which would place Alaska more in the way of progress than ever before has been given the people of the territory by Herbert Hoover, Secretary of the Department of Commerce, speaking last night at a dinner of the Chamber of Commerce, the Secretary said:

"Within the next three months we shall effect some measures that will co-ordinate Alaska better than heretofore so that out of this we may do something worth doing. The greatest thing we might do is to establish happy co-operation, to build a new country so that Alaska will have a greater mission and vision to America than the matter of control of her fisheries and lands. She has the building of a great state."

Secretary Hoover pointed out that Alaska would not be developed in great rushes like Oklahoma and California, but "some day would develop four or five great states."

"This," he said, "must come by steady accretion of people, step by step, that come here to obtain a better livelihood and a better standard of living. We must remember it is a place of greater possibility and of tremendous resources and there can be no full self-government until you are able to carry that burden."

Secretary Work, of the Interior Department, in an address, said:

"Some people told me that the Alaskans wanted everything. I have been disillusioned. It seems they don't want anything, but to be allowed to live here as elsewhere. I think Alaska could produce enough food for her own people if the population were a million."

Five Hurt in Fire

MONTICELLO, N. Y., July 19—Fire yesterday destroyed the wooden Mellilken and Wagner Block in the business section here, causing injuries to five men and damage estimated at nearly $150,000.

The flames, which originated, it is believed, when a cigarette was dropped in gasoline used for cleaning purposes, threatened the village, but the Monticello Fire Department, aided by forces from Middletown, Hurleyville, Port Jervis, Liberty and Fallsburg, succeeded in confining the blaze to the one block. The fire was extinguished early last night.

Daily Band Concerts Will Be One Of Many Features At The Lucasville Fair

A musical program which will ring with jazz and pep will be one of the many features of the entertainment bill of the coming Scioto County Fair, Lucasville, August 8-11, Secretary Clyde Brant announced today.

Daily concerts by well known bands. The famous West Union band of 38 pieces, engaged by the Ohio State Fair at a cost of $8,000.00, will be found on the musical menu of the Fair for Friday. More than a dozen bands made application for places on the Fair program, and the entertainment committee weighed carefully the merits of each organization before making a choice.

Good band music has been found by fair officials to be one of the most essential parts of its entire program. Many Vaudeville acts cannot be presented without the aid of music. In a casting act, for example, the daring acrobat leaves the trapeze for his double summersault in mid aid on a certain note of the music.

That band music is as necessary as the top balloon, "Hot-dog" stand, refreshment booth, and the peanut and popcorn vender, in adding gaiety to the program is the belief of members of the entertainment committee. It affords many visitors an opportunity to relax and enjoy themselves while listening to the music after they have tramped around from one educational exhibit to another.

The entertainment end of the Fair will be the best in many years. The detailed program will be announced lated.

Council Passes Up Winkle Case After A Lengthy Discussion On Building Code

The big business before Council at its regular meeting Wednesday night was the Building Code which was made the subject of a lengthy discussion. The talk fest, during which certain sections of the code were flayed, resulted in Council voting to drop the Winkel injunction case and naming a special committee to revise the legislation and make it more fair and without partiality in its operation.

President Albert Weghorst wielded the gavel and eight members answered to roll call, Mr. Unger being the only absentee.

The discussion of the Building Code was precipitated by Abraham S. Winkel when he appeared and made an appeal to Council to drop the injunction suit, recently decided in his favor by the Appellate court, in order that he may proceed with his building plans on Fourth street, where, he pointed out, he had razed an old and unsightly building and was planned to erect a modern building in its place. He declared that the court action was brought by the city solely in the interest of a neighbor and complained that he was being discriminated against in that the provisions of the ordinance had not been applied to other builders.

Judge A. Z. Blair, counsel for Winkel, also addressed council, and after explaining the decision of the court in the case, attacked the code both fore and aft, declaring that it was not applicable to the city of Portsmouth, that it is unfair in its operation and that its provisions have been violated by practically everyone who has erected a building during the more than two years it has been in effect and that no effort has been made to enforce it." He asserted that the code hinders the growth of the city and ought to be repealed.

Attorney Harry Miller, in defending the code, declared that it was good legislation, pointed to the fact that a great many people had respected the ordinance and that it should be enforced in view of the congested conditions existing here.

Service Director Gergens claimed that the three foot claus only applied to residence districts, but suggested that the code needed to be revamped while City Engineer E. J. Holmes suggested that the proper way to handle the situation would be to divide the city into zones and fix the requirements in the various districts as they may appear.

Member C. C. Horr was of the opinion that the ordinance in respect to the three foot clause was not intended to apply to the business district and he was in favor of making a distinction and on motion of Mr. Westphal the chair appointed a special committee composed of Messrs. Kountz and Westphal and Miss Cramer to revise the code so as to promote the best interests of the city.

Winkel Case to Be Dropped.

On the motion of Member Dickey the ordinance was then repealed which authorized the solicitor to carry the Winkel case to the Supreme Court, which means that the recent finding of the Court of Appeals will be accepted as final.

Garbage Removal Discussed.

Messrs. Evans and Talley submitted a proposition for the installation of motor equipment for garbage removal, outlining a plan under which they would be willing to enter into a contract for the collection of garbage at a cost not more than the $16,000 now paid annually for the open wagon system.

Mayor Gableman in speaking on the question stated that the garbage collection and disposal situation was fast becoming critical by lack of garbage dumps and declared that the city cannot tolerate the present conditions much longer. He said it was a matter of vital concern and that it behooves the city to prepare to provide a garbage disposal plant so that the situation may be handled in a modern manner. At his suggestion the matter was referred to the committee on Public Health to confer with the city health board.

To Pay Two Claims.

The sum of $23,405.76 was voted to pay the claim of the John H. McGowan Company and $23,500 was voted to pay the claims of the Nicola Building Company, while the sum of $286.32 was voted to pay the court costs in the two cases which grew out of claims for damages and extras in connection with the building of the city water works. An ordinance appropriating money to pay attorney fees to special counsel in the two cases was referred back to the Finance Committee to ascertain the amount due on an agreed basis of $5,000 which it was claimed Attorneys E. G. Millar and W. J. Meyer agreed to accept in full payment for their services.

In a communication read, the West End Business Association urged passage of legislation requiring all gasoline filling stations built in the future to keep within the limits of their own property and not encroach upon the city streets or sidewalks when building driveways for machines. The association also recommended the appointment of C. H. Whitehouse as custodian of the new West End comfort station and it was referred to the service department.

Market Petition In.

The association further recommended that the lower market square be dssignated for holding markets in the event Gallia square is abolished as a market place.

A petition was received from residents of Young street protesting against the proposal to allow the street car company to lay tracks on that thoroughfare in building the new belt line. The petition was received and ordered filed.

On motion of Mr. Westphal, after Mr. Kountz had brought up the subject, the clerk was instructed to notify the N. & W. Railway Company that unless some relief is given within 10 days in respect to the parking of automobiles on Walnut street, near the terminals, that legislation will be passed prohibiting the parking of machines on that street.

Legislation was ordered providing for an appropriation of approximately $400 to pay the cost of building a combination sewer on Poplar street to correct an alleged engineering mistake.

Chairman Deiner of the Public Property Committee explained a plan of his committee to recommend the erection of a building on the lot at the rear of the city offices to house city vehicles and other equipment and the plan was formally endorsed by council. The chairman promised to have plans ready to submit within a few days.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—You have helped so many, I am coming to you for advice. I have been married ten years and my man is no account at all in some ways. He is a good worker, but he is so filthy and dirty that I just can't stand to live with him any longer. He won't even wash his face any more, and he won't let me go anywhere. If I go down town he thinks I am going out to meet some man, and I don't want any other man. If I ever get rid of the one I got, I'll never be bothered with another one. Dolly, I would get a divorce from him if I thought I could get our children, but he says he won't let me have them. He can't prove anything against me, as I have never done anything wrong. I stay at home and take care of my home and my family. I try to get my husband to clean himself up and look like a man but he won't do it, and I have decided not to put up with him any longer. What would you do about it?

I would have turned the hose on him long ago. I think a filthy person is the limit.

VICKS VAPORUB
Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly

Dear Miss Wise—Pdease tell me the rates of French Lick Springs, Ind., and do you know of any other resorts near there where one could spend a vacation that would not be too high in price? DOLORES.

I don't know the rates of the hotels at French Lick, but you could write there and find out.

French Lick is famous for its mineral baths and people usually go there for rheumatism, neuritis and "other things." However, you could go there without taking the baths and have a good time, but don't go without taking a chaperone along. The Home Lawn Hotel at Martinsville, Ind., is also a nice place to go for a vacation, if you can go with an older person, or have your own crowd.

Dear Dolly—I am coming to you for advice as I see so many are doing. I have been going with a boy for about five months. He comes to see me and takes me places and is very nice in my presence. He seems to think a lot of me when he is with me, but when I do not go out with him he is with some other girl—just anyone who will go with him, but when I ask him about it he does not try to deny it. Now, Dolly, I treat him nice and do not go with any one else. Now, do you think this is right of him treating me this way?

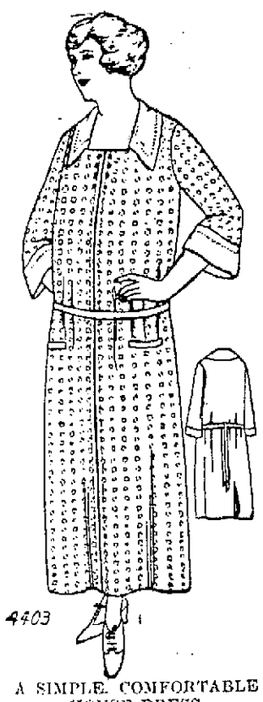

WANT TO KNOW.

If he is not engaged to you, or has not asked you for steady company, I see no reason why he should not go with other girls if he wants to. You have the same privilege, and should not sit around waiting for him to take you out. Go out with your girl friends if there are no boys available, and do not let him know that you are depending entirely upon him. Since he is honest enough to tell you who he goes out with, I don't see that you have any "kick" coming. If he did not like you he would not go with you.

My Dear Miss Wise—I have heard from a friend of mine that you have at your command a very good remedy for a lonesome sailor. By this I mean the column you edit in your paper for this purpose. Naturally I am a sailor and have been for the past three years as a member of the U. S. Naval Hospital Corps and although I have been nearly everywhere that is touched by the U. S. Atlantic fleet I still have very good reasons for asking your help in this matter. Now for a very brief description: I am 5 feet 10 inches tall and weigh 165 lbs. have large blue eyes and hair slightly darker than blonde. Hoping that you may be of assistance toward me making acquaintances I thank you very much. Arleigh Jack Farrel, H. A. First Class, Unit "X", Dispensary Naval Operating Base, Hampton Roads, Va.

How You Can Remove Every Trace of Hair

(Toilet Talks)

A stiff paste made with some powdered delatone and water and spread on a hairy surface about 2 minutes will, when removed, take every trace of hair with it. The skin should then be washed to free it from the remaining delatone. No harm can result from this treatment, but be sure it is delatone you get and you will not be disappointed. Mix fresh as wanted.—advertisement.

CROSS PATCH CAUSES TROUBLE

"Cross Patch is the jealous wizard who spoils everybody's fun."

SUDDENLY Rainbow Land turned forty colors. Not pretty pinks and blues and yellows as it had been all along, but ugly colors like mud and ink and smoke.

At the same time there was a loud crash of thunder.

"Goodness!" cried Nancy, clapping her hands over her ears. "Wh—what's happened?"

"I knew it!" exclaimed Mister Sky Bow, stamping one of his little legs. "Did the rainbow door fall down?" asked Nick. "And what's that funny noise?"

"It's Old Cross Patch at his tricks," stormed Mister Sky Bow. "Cross Patch is the jealous wizard who spoils everybody's fun. He has found the magic push-button that opens the rainbow door and he's sneaked in.

"He carries a magic stick he calls 'Old Harry,'" went on Mister Sky Bow, "and every time he waves it somebody becomes unhappy. That roaring noise is his voice and the other noise you hear is crying."

"Who's crying?" asked Nancy curiously.

"Why, some poor Rainbow Landers," said Mister Sky Bow. "The Nosies and the Dummies and the Puffies and the Sneezies and everybody. They aren't happy any more because Cross Patch has waved his horrid stick and made them unhappy. The Earsies, too, no doubt, have discovered that their ears they were so proud of, are not beautiful and the Nosies have probably learned the same thing about their noses."

"Oh, we'll have to help them," said the little girl.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES — UNDER THE SEA

BY ELTON

Then the fish net started moving upward. Never had Jack seen such a scramble. Apparently the fish knew that they were doomed if they were pulled out of the water. And, just then, Jack had a happy thought. Hurriedly he took his pocketknife out and cut the big net.

And there was a grand rush of fish. Just before the net was pulled out of the water, the last big fish had escaped, and as Jack himself slipped slowly to the bottom of the sea again, his old friend, the watermite, appeared. "That was a fine rescue," he shouted to Jack.

And then the little fellow asked Jack if he'd be willing to rescue some more fish that were held captives in a big wooden box. "Sure I will," replied Jack. "Where is the box?" And the watermite led the way to a square affair that was held shut by a lock. (Continued.)

French Have

son in the progress that has been made. It makes the French a trifle more conservative in their estimates of the cost of repair and also makes them wonder what Germany will do in another five years. Rebuilding is not so difficult as it seemed and Germany has no devastated areas to worry about. In other words, can anybody truly estimate the capacity of forty million French people to produe revenue more accurately than he can estimate the capacity of sixty million Germans. It goes to the heart of the whole reparations problem and explains better than anything else why the French are shy about commissions to investigate facts or estimate the sums Germany can pay. The French have their suspicions about international bankers who are eager to float a German loan. The French say the bankers naturally want to reduce Germany's burden as much as possible so investors will more readily see the likelihood of German redemption of bonds that have to be issued. So, also, the French are inclined to regard both the British and American government viewpoints as prompted by a desire to get German trade, as an international loan would surely assist German credit abroad and enhance the German purchasing power.

Bankers outside of France are insisting that Germany cannot pay as much as France wants. Each nation has its own conjecture about the future. And the French say that any commission such as United States Secretary of State Hughes proposed would only have to make another guess about the future. Can anyone tell the future of a private business? Can anyone say what the crops will be in any particular year? How can any experts estimate Germany's paying capacity during the next 25 years. The French insist that the reparations commission was created for the very purpose of altering from time to time the amount of the German indemnity as condirions changed, but the French have the majority on the reparations commission because Italy and Belgium vote with France as against Great Britain. The whole maneuver of the British has been to set up another commission wherein the French will be compelled to make sacrifices. And the point of the matter is, they do not see the need of sacrifices, but believe Germany can pay ultimately more than anyone dreams today. The French do not want any "facts" from experts, if the latter merely give estimates, and that is what they would have to do. The French would rather take a chance on developments and see what the German recuperative power yields each year.

Meanwhile the French have every intention of holding on to the Ruhr. It is the one guarantee they think will be effective. France must think of the day when Germany, having so far recovered as to pay perhaps half of the indemnity, may be strong enough to repudiate the remainder and challenge France to collect the rest if she dares. What the French think they can do by holding the Ruhr indefinitely is to keep Germany weak enough militarily to prevent another war (because the Ruhr is Germany's arsenal) and yet stimulate the Germans to produce as much revenue as possible annually to pay off the war debt and thus get France out of the Ruhr. The French can wait, and will wait a hundred years if necessary. They are in no hurry about letting go of the Ruhr. All this does not help the British trade interests, or the commerce of the rest of the world but it's "playing safe" for France, and being endowed with a strong nationaism born of recent experiences in depending upon other nations for security, the French feel that they must look out for French interests, or nobody else will.

MAKE MORE Jam and Jelly

Everybody likes perfect jams and jellies. Start to make a goodly supply with the luscious, early fruits and continue with all other fruits in season. With CERTO you can make any kind of jam or jelly—easily and economically. CERTO never fails—CERTO is the actual "jell" property of fruit.

CERTO process requires only one minute's boiling, gives one-half more product than old method, and saves the color, flavor and aroma of fresh fruit.

CERTO

Raspberry Jam

For this jam it is necessary that each berry be broken up. Therefore, crush about 2 quarts ripe berries in separate portions, so that each berry is mashed. This allows fruit to absorb the sugar quickly during the short boil. Measure 4 level cups (2 lbs.) crushed berries into large kettle, add 7 level cups (3 lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard for one full minute, remove from fire and stir in ½ bottle (scant ¼ cup) CERTO. From time jam is taken off fire allow to stand not over 5 minutes, by the clock, before pouring. In the meantime skim, and stir occasionally to cool slightly. Then pour quickly. If in open glasses paraffin at once. If in jars seal at once and invert for 10 minutes to sterilize the tops. Use same recipe for Strawberry, Blackberry or Loganberry Jam.

Pineapple and Strawberry Jam

Crush well about 1 qt. ripe berries. Put pineapple through food cutter, or chop very fine. Measure 2 level cups (1 lb.) of each into large kettle. Add 7 level cups (3 lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard for 1 minute, remove from fire and stir in ½ bottle (scant ½ cup) CERTO. Skim and pour quickly.

No More Gray Hair —Says Science

Wonderful Clean, Colorless Liquid Restores Original Color

Results in a Week

Science again has scored a triumph in the discovery of a very remarkable liquid known as Kolor-Bak. If you are gray, just apply this liquid to the hair and scalp and your hair will soon take on the actual color it had in the past. Not a trace of grayness will remain.

Kolor-Bak comes in the form of a clean and colorless liquid, containing properties which quickly restore the lost color to the hair and give it renewed vigor. And note that the one preparation is for all colors of hair. No special solution required for each color—no samples of hair required.

You will find also that with Kolor-Bak the hair has the same shade throughout. It does not appear streaked, faded or "dyed."

Every scientist, every physician, knows that gray hair is hair that has ceased to receive its normal supply of coloring matter or pigment from certain tiny cells (called follicles or papillæ) in the scalp, because these cells have become inactive from illness, shock of some kind, scalp disease, dandruff, infection, neglect of the hair, or lack of circulation, etc. But no matter what the cause of the grayness, it is simply amazing to see how it disappears when Kolor-Bak is used. It is a real substitute for the natural pigmentation.

SPECIAL PRICE
6 Day Sale
$1.29

Regular Price $1.50

For Dandruff, Itching Scalp and Falling Hair

Kolor-Bak also works wonders in the most persistent cases of dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair, as it thoroughly cleanses the scalp and hair. Many who do not need it on account of grayness use it for its cleansing, tonic properties.

THE YELLOW SEVEN
THE BRONZE JAR

BY EDMUND SNELL, ILLUSTRATED BY R.W. SUTTERFIELD

CAPTAIN JOHN HEWITT—Commissioner of Police at Jesselton—sprang to his feet and extended a welcoming hand to a stout, elderly Chinaman pausing on the threshold.

Monica Viney, delightfully at ease in a cane chair, raised her eyes from her book to observe the newcomer. His attire seemed to be a studied compromise between eastern and western fashions, for he wore a white tunic, baggy trousers of black silk, and black boots wit' elastic sides. Across his chest stretched a gold watch chain, the links of which were peculiarly massive, and the third finger of his left hand displayed a ring set with a large green stone.

"You sent for me," he announced with a harsh intonation that, for some reason, struck terror into her soul.

"That's right," agreed the commissioner cordially. "Come in and sit down. This is my sister, Mrs. Viney. Monica, I want to introduce you to the wealthiest and most respected Chinese gentleman on the island—Mr. Chai-Hung."

"How do you do?" murmured Monica sweetly. She was about to rise when a movement of the oriental's hand checked her.

"Please don't move, Mrs. Viney. I cannot tell you how delighted I am to make your honored acquaintance. I understand you arrived in Borneo only a short time ago."

Monica flushed.

"I came from Singapore three days ago—in the Jelandang," she replied. "It was a wonderful trip. I was practically the only passengeer in th first-class salon."

Chai-Hung lowered himself into a chair.

"Practically?" he echoed.

"Why yes. There was only myself—and a Mr. Pennington."

Hewitt looked up sharply.

"Of course you'll stop to tea, Mr. Chai-Hung?"

The Chinaman shook his head slowly.

"I never take tea, at least, not what you western people term tea. You'll pardon me, I know, if I say that our national beverage suffered considerably when it came into your hands. You diluted it with milk—and spoiled it with sugar!"

The commissioner crossed his legs and held his cigar-case toward his guest.

Chai-Hung helped himself.

Hewitt slapped each of his pockets in turn, accepted the Chinaman's box of matches, lit Chai-Hung's cigar, then turned his attention to his own. With blissful unconcern, he dropped the box into his tunic pocket.

Monica, keenly observant, watched with amused interest the almost pathetic expression with which the oriental followed the cool annexation of his property. A ripple of laughter escaped her lips.

"Didn't you know that?" she demanded. "I thought everybody did. I don't believe he's ever bought matches in his life: Jack, give Mr. Chai-Hung his matches."

The commissioner started guiltily.

"By Jove! I'm frightfully sorry. I hadn't the least intention—!" He handed them back.

The eyes of Chai-Hung positively twinkled.

"I must remember that," he said.

"I sent for you, Mr. Chai-Hung," Hewitt began, "because I am seriously in need of help. Your amazing insight into affairs that concern your own people has been of great service to me in the past: I am hoping that it will serve to lift the veil from a mystery of which the non-solution may enforce my resignation of my position here."

"As bad as that?"

The commissioner nodded.

"Lord Stornaway and his wife dined here last night and left this morning for Sandakan.

"I wanted their visit to be devoid of unpleasantness. While we were at dinner, her ladyship remembered she had left an unusually valuable diamond pendant on her dressing-table. I suggested that my sister should fetch it. She got there just in time to see Lady Stornaway's diamonds disappearing through the open window."

He paused and glanced at his sister.

She began speaking very quickly.

"As I opened the door, a current of air met me, sending something fluttering to the floor. I stooped to recover it and a sound from the window attracted my attention. It was open and, through the aperture, I saw a long, brown arm, its fingers passing rapidly along the wooden surface until they closed over the case that held the pendant. A second later and both arm and pendant had disappeared. I believe I screamed, for the next moment Jack and Lord Stornaway were both in the room. Lady Stornaway followed. I felt the room going round me. The next thing I remember is finding myself in this chair, still holding the piece of card that I had picked up before I saw the arm."

She shuddered and Chai-Hung rose to his feet.

"A distinctly unpleasant experience," he commented suavely. "And the piece of card—what was it like, Mrs. Viney?"

"It was as long as my index finger," broke in the commissioner, "with rounded corners. On one side it was black, on the other yellow—with seven black dots, four of them above a faint dividing line that ran halfway—and three below."

Monica, leaning over the arm of her chair, wrinkled her forehead. She could have sworn that the habitually unruffled Chai-Hung had started violently.

"An ordinary Chinese playing-card," he suggested.

The commissioner shook his head.

"It was possibly intended to look like one, but the coloring was different. The background is, I believe, invariably white. This was yellow. I am inclined to attach a good deal of importance to this card, Mr. Chai-Hung. I fancy this theft was no common theft, the perpetrator no ordinary thief."

Chai-Hung regarded his watch.

"What is your theory, Captain Hewitt, if I may ask?"

CHAI-HUNG LEAPED TO HIS FEET.

"I believe that this affair is not wholly unconnected with the present wave of anti-British feeling that prevails everywhere. I look at it as a carefully calculated plan to cause considerable annoyance to a prominent Englishman: the work, in fact, of a secret society. Be that as it may," he concluded abruptly, "I'm in about the biggest hole I've dropped into during the whole of my official career."

"Has it ever occurred to you," asked the oriental blandly, "that a secret society in the east is very much the same as a trade union in the west?"

"Then you don't agree with me?"

"Hardly."

"But," cried Monica excitedly, "how do you account for the yellow seven?"

Chai-Hung leaped to his feet and stood glaring at her, his fists clenching and unclenching in his efforts to choke down the fury that consumed him.

"What do you know of the Yellow Seven?" he demanded fiercely.

She regarded him in amazement.

"Why," she retorted innocently, "it was yellow—and there were seven dots."

The oriental swallowed something in his throat.

"Of course, I was forgetting," he admitted, half to himself. "I'll do everything possible, Captain Hewitt."

At the entrance he turned.

"Good afternoon, Captain Hewitt. Good-day, Mrs. Viney."

He was off at a rapid pace and the commissioner watched his red paper umbrella until he was out of sight.

He turned to find Pennington at his elbow.

"Good Lord, man! How did you get here?"

The other grinned. The only thing that was remarkable about Peter Pennington was the angle at which his eyes were set on an otherwise youthful countenance. They ran obliquely and were as celestial in appearance as those of the great Chai Hung.

"Came as far as the sun-dials," Pennington explained. "Heard the sound of voices and retreated to the kitchen entrance. Found your office a damn' sight cooler than the outer atmosphere."

The commissioner surveyed him doubtfully.

"You're been listening."

"I always listen," admitted the newcomer unabashed. "It's my job."

"I suppose you gathered that our oriental acquaintance is a washout as far as this affair is concerned," said Hewitt gloomily.

The younger man leant against the wll and began rolling a cigaret.

"Afternoon, Mrs. Viney! Hot, isn't it?"

"Fraightfully. Mr. Pennington, you don't really think Mr. Chai-Hung will help Jack, do you? I think he's a horrible man!"

"Know Anything about Chai-Hung?" asked Pennington suddenly.

Hewitt started.

"He's a prosperous Chinese merchant. He plants rubber as a sort of profitable hobby. Chai-Hung's as white as they make 'em, for all his yellow hide."

"And yet he refuses to help you?"

"Not at all. He promised to do his best. I hardly expected him to send the damned pendant to me by this evening."

Pennington turned and gazed thoughtfully toward a sea of infinite blue.

"Thanks," he murmured drily. "I take it then that you place absolute confidence in our friend?"

"Certainly. I've no reason to do otherwise."

The younger man swung slowly round on his heel. He walked down towar d the kitchen quarters, then came back and stood in front of the commissioner's chair.

"If Chai-Hung knows as much of the manners and customs of his people as you are inclined to imagine he could have told you one thing at least—if he had chosen. He could have explained to you that the recovery of the lost diamonds is every moment becoming more difficult—because it is changing hands with incredible rapidity."

Davis, Addressing Jackson County Farmers, Tells Of The Savings Effected By Reorganization Code

JACKSON, O., July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000 has been cut off the tax bills of Ohio citizens as a result of the economics effected through the operation of the state reorganization code inaugurated two years ago, former Governor Harry L. Davis declared here today in an address to Jackson county farmers and merchants at their annual picnic.

First reductions on the tax duplicate under the reorganization code, Davis said will come next December when the state tax levy, abolished in the closing days of his administration, is eliminated.

"A substantial saving in dollars and cents will be noted by each tax payer as he reads his next tax bill this coming winter," the former governor declared. "It will be the first direct effect which the tax payers' pocket books will experience from the large benefits accruing to the state financially through the new plan of operation we caused to be induced in the state government," he continued.

The tax levy for state purposes alone up to now, Davis pointed out, has amounted to 1.525 mills, but he continued, "from this year on $1,225 in taxes will be saved on every thousand dollars assessed."

"No part of the state service suffers from the cutting off of the state tax," Davis said. "State activities formerly supported from it now are being financed from a $19,500,000 surplus set aside from savings effected during the first eighteen months of operation and re-organization."

Austin Kelley Heads Kelley Iron & Nail Co.; Ironton, E. O. McKeown New Director

The Ironton Register Wednesday said:

The stockholders of The Kelly Nail and Iron Company held a special meeting Wednesday to consider organization matters necessitated by the recent death of Oscar Richey, long the presiding genius of this great company. In the interim between the death of Mr. Richey and the meeting, today, two of the directors of the company, Mrs. Nannie H. Wright and F. L. McCauley, had disposed of their holdings in the company and this naturally resulted in the surrender of their places on the Board of Directors. As a result of the meeting Messrs. T. J. Hayes, A. D. Marklin and E. O. McKeown were elected directors succeeding to the vacancies made by the retirement of Mrs. Wright and Mr. McCauley and by the death of Mr. Richey.

The new Board of Directors organized immediately by electing J. Austin Kelly, President; L. P. Blanton, vice president, and T. J. Hayes, secretary and treasurer.

The election of Mr. Kelly as President of The Kelly Nail and Iron Company will result in his removal from New York City to Ironton. He was long located in Ashland, where he had a most successful business career. He was the vice president of the company before his election to the presidency and his business acumen, his wide and general knowledge of business generally, but the iron business in particular, made his counsel very valuable. He is from a family of iron manufacturers and he will bring a new zest and interest to this great industry. Mr. Kelly is still in his early forties, but a most successful man in every way.

Bad Complexions Now Removed by Absorption

It has been found that ordinary mercolized wax has the power to absorb an old, faded or discolored complexion—or more literally, the old cuticle, or outer skin — revealing the fresher, healthier, under-skin, blooming with the pink of life under the glow of youth. The dead and half-dead cuticle comes off so gradually, in fine flour-like flakes, that there is no pain, no discomfort, no detention from one's everyday duties. Of course such troubles as tan, freckles, moth patches, liver spots, and fine lines, go with the discarded skin.

Mercolized wax, which druggists supply in one-ounce jars, should be applied lightly over the face before retiring and washed off in the morning. — Advertisement.

Youth Admits Stealing Sugar From Wheelersburg Warehouse

The Ironton Register Thursday said:

"According to the confession made by Joe Jenkins, a 16-year-old youth of north Fourth street, when he was caught last night in the act of robbing the wholesale house of the Wheelersburg Milling Company, on Lawrence street, he had been committing the robberies time and again for quite awhile.

"At a little before eight o'clock last night a small boy happened to be passing the Wheelersburg Milling Company and noticed several sacks of sugar piled against he fence in the rear of the building. He hurried to the police station and notied the police and immediately Officers Payne and Picklesimer responded. The officers noticed a youth leaving the building, and seeing the officers, he attempted to escape, but was overtaken at Fourth and Hecla. The youth was Joe Jenkins.

"In an alleged confession at police station last night the youth made some very startling revelations. He informed the police that John Day suggested to him that he enter the building, saying that he (Day) would purchase all the sugar but Joe stole from the building. According to the confession, Day lived up to his promise and purchased all that Joe was successful in taking, paying at the rate of six dollars per hundred pounds for it. He also admitted having sold some salt to a man from the country.

"The warehouse was used by the company to store sugar, salt, feed and other articles. Joe had formerly worked with the Wheelersburg Company and knew of this.

"When caught last night he had piled 500 pounds of sugar by the fence outside the building."

J. C. Mackey, manager of the Wheelersburg Milling company, stated Thursday that he had learned of the robbery and will insist on a thorough investigation as he believes other persons are implicated in it in addition to the youth under arrest.

Up To Mr. Motorist To Dim Lights; Law Effective

Are you going to take a little spin in your petrol bus tonight?

Well, Mr. Motorist, remember the law that you must dim your lights in passing other machines has become effective and will be enforced, officials declared Thursday. It is no longer just a matter of courtesy, it is the law.

It takes the place of the "legal lens" law which provided that only certain types of lenses be used on headlights. It is now required that headlights be dimmed when 200 feet from an approaching vehicle so that no portion of the glaring rays are above a point 3 1-2 feet from the ground. The penalty for the first offense is $25 and from $50 to $100 for each subsequent violation.

BITTEN BY COPPERHEAD

NEW PHILADELPHIA, OHIO, July 19 —Miss Carrie Arnold, 18 hovered between life and death for several hours to-day, after she was bitten by a copperhead snake while helping her father in the hay field. Her attending physicians expressed the belief that she will recover.

Don't Risk Injuring Skin or Clothing

When you use a preparation for checking under-arm perspiration be sure you are taking no risks of ruining your clothes or harming your skin.

Many commercial preparations contain harsh astringents or powerful chemicals. You should avoid these and use nothing that is not guaranteed to be pure and harmless in every way.

Dainty women have found that the best thing to use is Nul, a new discovery of a famous Chicago laboratory. Nul is absolutely pure and is guaranteed to be harmless to both skin and clothing. As a matter of fact, it leaves the most sensitive skin, soft, cool, smooth and white no matter how often it is used.

It destroys every trace of perspiration moisture and odor and leaves the underarms sweet, clean and dry. It dries so quickly you can use it whenever you want to—on a moment's notice if necessary. No after treatments are necessary because Nul contains its own soothing cream and dainty talc.

You can get Nul at any drug store. It is very inexpensive and a few ounces will last for months. If you want to put an end to all perspiration troubles, be sure your druggist gives you Nul. — Advertisement.

59-YEAR-OLD WOMAN SENT TO PRISON FOR LIFE FOR MURDER

MASON, MICH., July 19—Mrs. Emma Kopple, fifty-nine-year-old Lansing woman, this afternoon was found guilty of murdering her foster son, Harry Brill, by a jury in Circuit Court here. The boy died of poisoning May 13. It was charged that Mrs. Kopple conspired with James Shannon, a roomer at her home, to kill the boy in order to collect $1,500 insurance money on the lad's life.

The jury, which deliberated 50 minutes before reaching a verdict, was composed of ten men and two women.

Immediately upon receiving the verdict Judge Carr sentenced Mrs. Kopple to life imprisonment at hard labor in the Detroit House of Correction. Even after sentence had been pronounced Mrs. Kopple continued to declare her innocence.

Day Of Grace Is Gone, Girls Under 21 Must Have Consent Of Parents To Marry

The day of grace is gone.

No more can a girl under 21 secure a marriage license unless she has the consent of both her parents for both parents must sign the application for the license.

This new law became effective yesterday.

Mabel D. Lindemann, of Sciotoville was the last young woman to secure a license under the old ruling that the majority of women was reached at 18. Miss Lindemann was 19. She did not need parental consent. The man whom she married, Henry W. Haugen of Waits Station, was also 19, and under the old rule, which still holds good for men, was accompanied by his father whose consent was necessary before the couple could be married.

Rev. L. N. Kayser of the Calvary Baptist church performed the marriage ceremony.

No longer can a miss under 21 get the coveted license without the consent of both parents. They must come to the court house if possible. If only one parent is living, that parent must consent.

In case neither parent is able to come to the court, they may sign a written consent in the presence of two witnesses and one of the witnesses must appear in court with the couple getting the license.

With parental consent a girl may obtain a license after she is 16 and of her own accord if she is past 21. The legal age of maturity for men is 21, unchanged from the old ruling.

Local Druggists Guarantee Rheuma For Rheumatism

What chance does any sufferer take when Rheuma is guaranteed to banish rheumatism, lumbago, gout and kidney ailments, or money back?

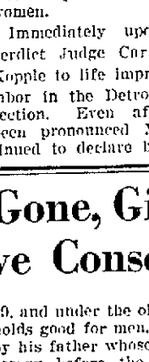

Why not investigate this offer? Talk to — — A — — about it. Rheuma must drive the rheumatic poison from the system, bring swollen joints back to normal, and relieve all agony or it costs nothing.

People so crippled with rheumatism that they could not walk have been absolutely freed from the iron grasp of the demon, rheumatism, with the Rheuma treatment. A few hours after the first dose Rheuma begins to drive the dangerous poisons that cause stiffness and pain in the joints and muscles from the body through the natural channels.

Everybody can afford Rheuma—it's not expensive, and money back if not entirely satisfied

Impurities in the Blood Spread Throughout the System. Nerv-Worth Overcomes Them.

"My blood has been in very bad condition," said Mrs. Lizzie Daley, 224 E. Antietam street, Hagerstown, Md. "Due to this, my appetite was very poor, I had severe pains in the back of my head, my back and arms. My food didn't digest properly, and soured on my stomach and this caused me to bloat badly from gas forming. I have used Nerv-Worth. My stomach doesn't bother me, bloating stopped, blood and appetite are in better condition."

Musical Star Back—Flayed By Critics

NEW YORK, July 19—Ganna Walska McCormick, less hefty but more elusive, showed her contempt for a convention of alert reporters waiting outside her stateroom on the incoming Olympic today, by making her escape through an adjoining room. Harold F. McCormick, Chicago millionaire, and her husband, showed his contempt for the judgment of Paris critics on his wife's recent performance in "Rigoletto" by grabbing his lady at the foot of the gang plank and kissing her on both corners of her mouth. Both then showed their contempt for the world in general by speeding away in a costly limousine.

Mme. Walska's return to New York was as quiet as her trip across. Her only companions on the Olympic, it was said, were Karl K. Kitchen, the writer, and Mrs. Kitchen.

Sings Without Crowd.

Mme. Walska sang daily on ship board, but she lacked an audience. In addition to her suite she had a special cabin on another deck which she used as a studio.

Mme. Walska was not today the animated young beauty who left for France, confident of her ability and apparently certain of her success before unprejudiced critics. But she was quite as beautiful.

She refused to discuss her recent debut in Paris opera, where she was rather roughly handled by French critics, and would not even talk about her reported plans to enter musical comedy, radioed from the ship in her name last night.

Mme. Walska said she would remain in New York at the McCormick town house for a while and then go to Chicago.

Piles

Can't Be Cured from the Outside.

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through the stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Wurster Bros., who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer. — Advertisement.

Mighty Healing Power of Peterson's Ointment

"I wish I could publish all the grateful letters I get every week," says Peterson. "I don't believe anyone on this earth has such a happy time at work as I have. All I do is make Peterson's Ointment and read letters like these that come right from the heart.

"I had an ulcer on my ankle—had it 30 years and could not get it healed. For the last six years I had several doctors. I got one box of your ointment and it almost healed it and it was entirely healed before I had used the second one. I don't think there is a better remedy on earth." Mrs. J. C. Henderson, 520 Sprague Street, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Peterson's Ointment is just as good for piles as it is for old sores. It stops itching of eczema almost instantly. There isn't anything in the way of pimples or face blemishes that it won't chase away, and for sore feet, chafing, sunburn, scalds, cuts and bruises there is nothing so sure or speedy. 35 cents, 60c, $1.00, $2.50, $5.00. — Advertisement.

KELLASTONE
IMPERISHABLE STUCCO

Kellastone is the original all-mineral magnesite stucco — does not contain a particle of Portland cement, lime or gypsum — affords the beauty of stone and the strength of granite. Any desired color can be produced by the use of colored marble or granite chips which are cast into the finish coat before it hardens.

Homes and buildings into which time has eaten and weather beaten until old age is upon them are given architectural youth and beauty by overcoating them with Kellastone — applied without disturbing occupants. Come in and see our exhibit or write for free literature.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, July 19—Price changes were relatives small at the opening of today's stock market but the trend seemed definitely upward. Several of the low priced stocks were strong, including Atlantic Gulf common and preferred and Colorado Fuel. Houston Oil moved up nearly two points.

The demand for miscellaneous shares which has been pronounced during recent sessions, was considerably greater in the early trading today, many of the ordinarily inactive stocks rising a point or more. The customary leaders also moved higher but their gains were confined to fractions except for Pan American "B" and Gulf States Steel which improved a point each. Associated Oil declined 4½ points and Associated Dry Goods 3. German marks duplicated its recent low record of 0.03¾ cents. Other foreign exchange rates were slightly higher.

A new group of stocks stood out as market leaders during the forenoon session, a broad demand prevailing for the merchandise issues and other shares which do not usually govern the course of price. Activity in these stocks indicated that the public interest was gradually increasing. Accumulation of selected stocks was ou a large scale, notably Foundation company which advanced 3¼ to 77½, a record price. Other large gains included Associated Dry Goods 4 points, National Lead 3; Hartman Corporation 2⅝ and American Car, May Department Stores, Sears-Roebuck, Kelsey Wheel, Air Reduction and Brooklyn Rapid Transit second assessment paid, 2 to 2½ points. Advances of a point or more were registered by some of the standard issues including Baldwin, Corn Products, Reading and Union Pacific. Call money opened at 5 per cent.

The hesitation and caution which has characterized the recent sessions was dispelled in today's stock market, prices rising vigorously in an expanded demand. Short covering was the most powerful factor in the advance of 1 to 4 points but there was evidence of greatly increased public participation. Sale approximated 650,000 shares.

The closing strong.

Chicago Grain And Provisions

CHICAGO, July 19—Wheat showed showed a downward slant in price today during the early dealings. Enlarged receipts here together with a poor response in Liverpool to yesterday's price upturns on this side of the Atlantic had a bearish effect. There were no indications of general public buying and some uncertainty was caused by announcement that the government supervisor had asked for the actual names of traders who were long or short 500,000 bushels or more. Heretofore, reports which the government had asked for required no names. The opening which ranged from ¼ to ⅝ lower with September 97¾ to 98 and December 1.00⅝ to 1.01 were followed by a slight further setback.

Corn and oats were easier with wheat. After opening unchanged to ¼ lower September 75⅞ to 76, the corn market continued to sag.

Reports indicating danger of serious damage from black rust in the Canadian northwest led to an advance in wheat prices today after an early decline. It was pointed out that there had been heavy recent rains where rust was present and that the Canadian crop was a long strong, ¼ to 2c net higher with September 100⅛ to 100¼ and December 1.03⅛ to 1.03¼.

Oats started at ⅛@¼ decline to ⅛ advance September 34⅞ to 35. Later the market held to the initial range.

Lower quotations on hogs weakened the provision market.

The close was firm ¼ to 1 net higher Sept. 76⅞ to 76⅞@77.

Aside Will Giving Property To 'Alien'

CINCINNATI, OHIO, July 19—Heirs to the estate of Mrs. Helen Seigle, wealthy Cincinnati woman, to-day filed suits seeking to set aside the gifts by Mrs. Seigle of valuable real estate to Michael Schenk, former caretaker of her Hyde Park home, and members of his family. Schenk was in the service of the Seigle family for more than 30 years before Mrs. Seigle's death a few months ago. The property transfer took place in 1916 and 1917.

The suits allege "undue influence," and set out that Mrs. Seigle was 76 years of age when the transfers were made and not of mental capacity to realize what she was doing.

The contending relatives are William C. Keckeler, of St. Louis, a nephew; Jessie B. Clarke, Cincinnati, a niece, and Louis Z. Clarke and Marcie C. Gocker, also of this city, grand nephew and grand niece.

These suits followed the filing of a suit to set aside Mrs. Seigle's will.

Shot In Self Defense

CINCINNATI, O., July 19—(By the Associated Press)—That she shot because she thought her safety and honor were in danger, was the statement made by Mrs. Anna M. Bachman, 44, of Crescentville, Ohio, today when on the witness stand in her own defense in her trial on a second degree murder charge in connection with the death of James Webster, 22, a boarder in her home.

Mrs. Bachman said she did not remember how many shots she fired. She said that an argument started on the day of the fatal shooting, September 15, when she told Webster he was far behind in his board bill and that he would "have to pay or get out."

Shortly afterward, she testified, Webster demanded $50 of her that he might go to his home in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. Bachman is the mother of five children. Her husband and at least two of her children are expected to be summoned to the witness stand to corroborate her testimony.

Mrs. I. T. Foster

Mrs. Nettie Florence Truitt Foster, wife of I. T. Foster, passed away at 8:45 Thursday morning at her home, 932 Fourth street, her death following a week's illness, due to complications. Few of her friends knew of her illness, and the announcement of her death will come as a cruel blow to them.

Mrs. Foster was born in Manchester April 4, 1861, and was the daughter of the late John K. and Rebecca Truitt, both deceased. She is survived by her husband and two sons, Frank Bailey, of 2212 Grandview avenue, and John (Chuck) McDaniels of Bristol, Va., and three stepdaughters, Myrtle and Mae Foster at home and Mrs. Samuel Sweet of Concord, Ky., and one stepson, Wm. E. Foster, of Ironton. She is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Nonnie King, of Chicago, and four grandchildren.

At an early age Mrs. Foster joined the Methodist Church and for 16 years was a faithful and active member of Bigelow M. E. church. She was kind and generous to all and will be missed. She was neighborly, a devoted wife and an indulgent mother.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home at 8 o'clock Friday night and will be in charge of Rev. C. E. Chandler. The body will be taken to Manchester Saturday and interment will be made in the village cemetery there.

Mrs. Mary Ann Suter

After being bedfast seven months as the result of a serious injury to her right hip suffered in a fall on the backsteps of her home, death last evening about 7:30 o'clock claimed Mrs. Mary Ann Suter, beloved wife of John Suter, the final summons coming at the home, 811 Court street, where she had resided for the past fifty years. She was one of the best known residents of Scioto county, all her life being spent in the vicinity of Powellsville and Portsmouth.

Mrs. Suter was born at Powellsville, December 15, 1840, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith, pioneer residents of that section. Her family moved to Portsmouth when she was still a young girl and she had continued to make this her home.

Surviving are the husband, John Suter, four daughters and a son, Mrs. Elizabeth McKinney of Findlay street, Mrs. Kathryn Bradshaw of Seventh street, Mrs. Mayme Emrick of Eighth street, Mrs. Hattie Clark of Third street, and John Suter at home. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. Cynthia McNally of Sciotoville, and a brother, Iowa Conklin of Tenth street.

Mrs. Suter was a faithful member of the First Presbyterian church. She was a devoted wife and mother, possessed of a kind and loving disposition and her passing will cause sadness in the hearts of all those who knew her.

Funeral and burial services will be private. Funeral services will be from the home on Court street at nine o'clock Friday morning, with burial in Greenlawn.

The Morning Sun Brings The News Of The World To Your Breakfast Table

The full night report of the Associated Press is received by the Morning Sun over its own leased wire, giving an accurate and interesting resume of world events which must be read by everyone who wishes to keep up with world progress. The Sun prints the complete report, together with a synopsis of what has been carried in the day report, giving its readers a day by day history of the things of importance that are going on everywhere.

A Complete Sport Page

The Sun is one of the few Ohio papers carrying the box scores of the two major leagues. To make this possible a second leased wire has been installed for the baseball season, and over this the results of the ball games are received each night. No other paper coming into this territory gives a more complete account of the baseball history as it is being made. All other sports and local sports of all kinds are fully covered.

Why Women Like The Sun

The Sun is growing in popularity with the women of the community, and there is every reason why it should. The local social field is covered completely as a groundwork for the pages devoted to women. In addition here are some of the special features of interest to women:

Each day the Sun publishes a recipe by some good cook of the community.

Household hints, full of useful and timely suggestions appear in each issue.

A good serial of interest to women is always found in the Sun.

Wanda Barton writes frequently on "Housekeeping Helps."

Special N. E. A. features — none better — of direct interest to women are always in the Sun.

Sister Mary is conducting a special series of "Kitchen Articles." Don't miss them.

The Sun is a clean newspaper and stands for the best interest of the community.

Moore Fails To Substantiate Confession Made By Spires

WEST UNION, O., July 19—(Special to the Times)—If John Spires was endeavoring to get Frank Moore to say something that would throw some light on the claim that he was connected with the killing of R. F. Morris near West Union late in May when they greeted each other in the county jail here yesterday evening, he failed.

After each had said "hello" Spires said: "Remember the last time we shook hands, Frank?" Moore replied, "Yes, in Portsmouth." "You know better than that," said Spires and before they could get into an argument Moore was led away to a cell.

It will be remembered that in Spires' alleged confession he said that after the body of Morris had been put on the creek bank all three met on the road and that after Moore and his pal had tossed $100 in bills into the back seat of the big automobile they all shook hands and agreed that they would die before they would tell of the crime. It was to this shaking of hands that Spires referred when he mentioned it to Moore yesterday evening but instead of Spires getting an answer that would corroborate his confession Moore remarked that the last time he shook hands with him was in Portsmouth. Moore has maintained since his arrest at McRoberts, Ky., that he was with Spires only in Portsmouth and stoutly denies any knowledge of the crime.

Friday Prosecuting Attorney S. A. Skelton and Sheriff Harry Dunham of Scioto county will be here to question Moore and Spires and it is possible that they will be brought face to face again. Prosecuting Attorney J. R. B. Kessler talked to Moore last night but the young man sticks to his story that he was in no way connected with the crime.

BAKER TO LAUNCH LEAGUE FIGHT

CLEVELAND, OHIO, July 19—Europe is now more nearly ready for world war than it was in 1914, Newton D. Baker told an audience of women gathered here to-day to hear the former Secretary of War and others outline the purpose of the League of Nations Non-Partisan Association. It was the first gun fired here in an attempt to obtain signers to a petition that the United States enter a league of nations.

"When we present to the President and Senate 10,000 names, or 1,000,000 names or 10,000,000 names of those who want America to join a league of nations, they will listen," Mr. Baker declared.

"Europe is now more nearly ready for world war than it was in 1914, so far as underlying causes are concerned," Mr. Baker added. "I cannot see how it can be prevented unless some substitute is found.

Worse Than Last War

"If the devil has in his heart to let forth upon the human race more deadly instruments of destruction than were used in the last terrible war, it means international suicide so far as the civilized nations are concerned.

"America must do her part in a big way in concert with the other nations of the world to prevent an international war. I believe that way will be the league of nations with reservations to protect the liberty of the United States."

Mr. Baker explained that there is no opposition between the league and the World Court. He referred to the latter as "something we ought to go into," adding that "the court does not take us into the league and it does not keep us out."

Wholesael Prices Do wn, Retail Prices Up

WASHINGTON, July 19 — Although the general level of wholesale prices throughout the country decreased nearly 2 per cent from May to June, according to figures assembled by the Bureau of Labor statistics, the retail food index showed an increase of 1 per cent.

Among the 404 commodities included in the wholesale price statistics, building materials show the largest decrease, averaging 4 per cent, while metals declined 2¾ per cent, chemicals and drugs 2¼ per cent, and fuel and lighting materials about 2 per cent. Farm products, food, clothes and clothing, and miscellaneous commodities registered smaller declines. Decreases were shown in 190 commodities, increases in 53, and 161 were listed as unchanged.

Food Prices Grow

Thirteen articles of food increased in price at retail between May 15 and June 15, while 15 showed declines and 15 were unchanged.

Potatoes advanced 19 per cent, round steak 24 per cent, sirloin steak, leg of lamb and onions 4 per cent, chuck and bananas 3 per cent, rib roast and cheese 2 per cent, ham and fresh eggs 1 per cent and vegetables, lard and substitutes and tea less than half of 1 per cent and butter 4 per cent.

The increase in the retail food price level from June 15, 1922, to June 15, 1923, averaged 3 per cent. The general wholesale market meanwhile registered an advance of 2 per cent.

During the month, ending last June 15, food prices advanced in 32 cities, rising as much as 3 per cent at Newark, N. J.; Pittsburg and Washington, D. C. The level decreased in 16 cities and was unchanged in 3 cities.

Ashland Mayor Says He Will Give $100 To Any Person Who Saw Him Take Drink

ASHLAND, KY., July 19.—Mayor W. M. Salisbury offered $100 in cash at Council meeting last night to each and every person who would step up and say that they had seen him take a drink of "white whiskey."

Mayor Salisbury made the unusual offer in a statement before the Council in which he replied to attacks made upon his administration by a local newspaper and others.

The mayor declare that he would welcome any fair investigation of the mayor and the police department.

"There are two things I dislike very much," said Mayor Salisbury. "One is a drunken man, the other is a fool. The majority of this Council acted as though they were suffering from hallucinations.

Maughan

Lieutenant Maughan maintained his stride of 160 miles an hour in the jump from Dayton to this city—a distance of 560 miles. He left Dayton at 7:53 Central time.

He landed smoothly and his two mechanics who have been in St. Joseph for three weeks, at once went over the plane.

ST. Joseph, 1,140 miles west of New York brought the aviator almost half way across the continent in his dawn-to-dusk effort.

It was at Avenue City, ten miles northeast of here, where Lieutenant Maughan was forced down July 9, in his previous attempt at a sea-to-sea flight in one day.

Although badly damaged at Avenue City, the same plane having undergone extensive repairs, is being used today. It is a Curtis pursuit plane equipped with a 400 horse power D-12 engine.

The purpose of the flight is to blaze a trail for the possible transporting across the United States in event of war. Sites for the establishment of landing fields in the development of commercial aviation is another object in view.

Lieutenant Maughan's next scheduled stop is Cheyenne, Wyoming, 530 miles away which he expects to negotiate in about three hours and twenty minutes.

"I enjoy this lunch more than I did the one you men gave me on my last trip," Maughan said as he sat eating fried chicken.

The aviator showed no signs of weariness. He alighted with alacrity from his machine and hugged his mechanics.

"Going fine, going fine," Maughan told the 1,200 men and women who gathered at the Municipal grounds. They were kept at a distance of one hundred feet from the machine and a cordon of policemen guarded the plane while Maughan dined. He took off for Cheyenne at 12:04 p. m.

The first thing Maughan called for upon his arrival here was cotton to put in his ears. He said that after leaving Dayton he lost the cotton and the terrific speed caused buzzing in his ears. This was supplied and after eating for ten minutes he lay on a cot and slept asking to be awakened in six minutes. His mechanics had the machine filled with gasoline and oil when he was awakened.

"I circled Lancaster, Ohio," Maughan said, "because there was so much mist and fog that I did not know where I was. I had no more trouble after that."

Maughan said he averaged 155 miles an hour from Dayton, but intentionally did not open up to full speed.

"I'm saving my fast flying for later in the day after I pass the Rocky Mountains," he added.

Maughan said the 20 pounds of New York newspapers he was carrying, precluded taking anything else on the trip, but as he climbed into his machine he asked for several pieces of chicken.

He said he might not be able to eat while in the air but he wanted to be prepared.

Hopping off for Cheyenne, Maughan circled the field once and waved to his mechanics, then darted northwest. In less than two minutes he was out of sight.

CHICAGO, July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Lieutenant G. Crocker, on May 26, 1923, broke the world's record for a non-stop flight in a one man plane when he flew from Ellington Field, Houston, Texas, to Selfridge Field, Detroit, Michigan, crossing the country from south to north in 11 hours and 54 minutes. The flight covered approximately 1,400 miles. Lieutenant Maughan is the first man to attempt an east to west dawn to dusk flight and his effort contemplated making approximately 2,500 miles.

Previous to this on September 5, 1922, Lieutenant James S. Doolittle flew from Kelly Field, Texas, to San Diego, California, 1,240 miles in 11 hours and 10 minutes.

On May 2 and 3, 1923, Lieutenants Oakley G. Kelly and John A. Macready made a record for a non-stop flight for two men from New York to San Diego in 26 hours and 50 minutes.

Among foreign fliers, the record is held by Captain John A. Alcock and Lieutenant Arthur Brown, of the British royal air force. They flew from St. Johns, N. F., to Clifden, Ireland, 1,960 miles.

In comparison iwth records being made today Robert E. Fowler in 1912, flew with many stops from San Diego to Jacksonville, Fla., in 122 days in 1921, G. C. Rogers started from Buffalo, N. Y., September 17, and arrived in Pasadena, Calif., November 5th.

Reaches Dayton Behind Time

DAYTON, O., July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan arrived at McCook Field here at 8:35 o'clock eastern standard time on his first leg of a dawn to dusk flight from New York to San Francisco.

After his plane had been refueled and examined thoroughly by mechanicians and the aviator had breakfasted, he took the air at 8:53 o'clock eastern standard time, and after circling the field once for altitude, headed southwest for St. Joseph.

Lieutenant Maughan was greeted upon his arrival by Commanding Officer McIntosh at McCook Field and during the refueling and examination of the plane service men stood guard with fire extinguishers ready to smoother any flames that might appear as was the case when Lieutenant Maughan arrived here on July 9, on his first attempt of the dawn to dusk flight.

As the flier took to the air a telegram was despatched by Lieutenant Edward Johnson, Maughan's "hunkie" to Colonel E. W. Gilmore, chief of the air service at San Francisco. It said:

"Lieutenant Maughan, carrying copies of New York morning newspapers. Suggest they be auctioned as first morning papers to be read on Pacific Coast on date of publication in New York."

Maughan insisted on paying for the papers, saying he would be a real news vender and wanted to get his pay for delivering them out of the profits sales.

An extra heavy military guard surrounded the machine all night and right up to the moment when Maughan started.

Officials have been unable to discover what ailed the pressure system that clogged and broke off the last trans-continental flight. Nor has the pilot been able to satisfy himself that the radiator cap which he found over the outlet to his gasoline tank got there accidentally.

The 75 officers and ten newspaper men permitted to approach the biplane, were kept 100 feet distant by the cordon of guards.

No hands touched the machine after it was tucked away last night except those of Maughan and the little staff of mechanics in whom he places trust.

Lieutenant Maughan covered the 370 miles from Fitchell Field to New York in four hours and 27 minutes. Only 18 minutes were allowed at McCook Field for refueling the Curtis pursuit plane.

"I feel much better on this trip than I did on my former attempt," declared Maughan upon landing here.

"My time was not so good, but I played safe. I did not lose the way for a single instant, although a heavy haze and fogs were encountered over Pennsylvania.

"In place of flying a compass or a straight course, I flew in a circuitous one, using familiar landmarks to keep me on the course. This of course cut down the time, but I feel it is better to have less speed over the first leg of the flight than to lose the way entirely as I did the last time.

"My air speed indicator showed only 155 miles an hour for the greater portion of the way between New York and Dayton. I had two objects in view by flying at this rate.

"First, I flew around the usual airways between the two cities, picking up points that I recognized, and secondly, if I should have lost the way, by flying at this comparatively low speed, I was conserving my gasoline supply."

"If I should have lost the route, I figured I would have enough gasoline to take me to McCook Field from any point that I happened to recognize.

"Today's flight from New York was much more satisfactory than the first one. It takes a lot of starch out of a fellow when he loses his way on any kind of a flight, but it is more especially true on a race against time like this one.

"Because of the fact that I was never lost, I suppose it is, that I feel so much better both physically and mentally than I did on the first attempt.

"I don't anticipate any great trouble on the balance of the trip from here, as regards to keeping the course. The route I have planned readily lends itself to flying with a map course.

"The trouble with the gasoline line has been completely eliminated and with this out of the way, and the motor functioning perfectly, I have great hopes to complete the trip and take dinner in San Francisco before the sun sets there this evening."

Maughan was sighted over McCook Field at 8:30 o'clock this morning. He flew to the north end of the field and back, then landed the plane with the nose pointed toward the north.

Immediately upon landing, he hopped from the plane and was taken by waiting automobile to the McCook Field dining room where he ate a hasty lunch consisting of two bananas, a glass of milk and a sandwich.

During the interim, the corps of McCook Field expert mechanics gave the ship a hasty but thorough grooming.

There was an expert for each part of the plane and while they were making their inspections, the plane was being refueled and oiled by another set of mechanics.

As before, the motor was kept running during Maughan's short stay at the field. Fire extinguishers and chemical apparatus was kept ready for any emergency as on the first trip, a fire was narrowly averted when a bunch of waste rags caught on fire directly under the plane.

The plane was refueled without any untoward incident and at 8:53 the wheels of the Curtis ship left the ground and headed directly southwest for St. Joseph, Missouri, his next stopping place.

Maughan said that he was flying on an average of 1,000 feet high, coming down slightly when passing over his landmarks to better identify them.

Some extraordinarily quick work was performed by the McCook Field mechanics in gassing and oiling the plane; approximately 107 gallons of gasoline and nine and a half gallons of oil were pumped into the ship before it had been on the ground five minutes.

Hops Off At Mitchell Field

MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y., July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan took off here at 4:08 o'clock this morning, eastern standard time, on the first leg of his second attempt to fly from coast to coast between dawn and dark. He pointed his plane toward Dayton, O., where he intends to make his first stop.

After Maughan had climbed into the cock-pit, a bundle of New York morning newspapers, still damp with the ink from the presses, was handed to him. Above the roar of the engine he shouted out laughingly: "I want to be the first news vender to sell New York morning newspapers in San Francisco on the evening of the day of their publication."

Lieutenant Maughan will follow the itinerary mapped for his first flight on July 9, which ended in failure near St. Joseph, Missouri, after the gasoline feed pipe became clogged.

Four stops are planned enroute: At McCook Field, Dayton, O.; Municipal Field, St. Joseph, Mo.; Air Mail Field, Cheyenne, Wyo., and Salduro, Utah.

To accomplish the flight across the continent between dawn and sun set, Lieutenant Maughan will have to make the trip in 16 hours, 16 minutes. He lost 14 minutes of daylight in the nine days since his first attempt.

Time Limit Cut

When the machine alights at the stopping places, two men will seize the wings and trundle it to the pressure pumps where benzol and gasoline will be forced into the tanks. The mechanicians will hurriedly examine the airplane for defects.

The flight was arranged, according to Major W. C. Weaver, commanding officer here, to determine whether fleets of air planes could be transported from coast to coast in one day in the event the United States was attacked by hostile forces.

The plane left the ground 8 minutes and 4 seconds later than the take-off made by Lieutenant Maughan on his previous dawn to dusk flight.

Has Ideal Weather

Lieutenant Bertram J. Sherry, weather expert, from Washington, declared the weather to be almost ideal for flying conditions, saying the light will be to the aviators advantage. At the 3,000 foot level, he said, there was a ten mile an hour easterly wind, while at 6,0000 feet a northeast wind was blowing at eight miles an hour. There was a slight fog over the field, but Maughan had no difficulty in making his get-away. Lieutenant Sherry said he also would encounter a light fog over the Alleghenies in Pepusylvania.

The flier had little more than four hours sleep, having retired at 11:30 last night and arising at 3:45, daylight saving time. He breakfasted on ham and egg sandwiches and coffee.

Maughan's schedule, prepared prior to his first attempted trans-continental flight on a basis of 160 miles an hour average speed, is the one he is using today. Counting time in the air, not including twenty minute stops at the way stations, the schedule follows:

Mitchell Field, Dayton, 580 miles, 3 hours, 36 minutes.

Dayton-St. Joseph, 560 miles, 3 hours, 25 minutes.

St. Joseph-Cheyenne, 530 miles, 3 hours and 10 minutes.

Cheyenne-Salduro, 470 miles, 3 hours and 6 minutes.

Why you should take organic iron to enrich your blood instead of metallic iron—how to tell the difference.

While iron is absolutely necessary to your life and health always remember that your blood contains organic iron and not metallic iron which people usually take; therefore when you take iron always take organic iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron and is an entirely different thing from organic iron. Organic iron may be had from your druggist under the name of Nuxated Iron.

Over 4,000,000 people annually are using Nuxated Iron. It will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. A few doses will often commence to enrich your blood, help revitalize your worn-out exhausted nerves and give you new strength and energy. It costs about eighteen times as much to make organic iron, like Nuxated Iron, as it does to make metallic iron, though it costs you but little more. Always insist on having genuine organic iron—Nuxated Iron. If you are not feeling quite up to the mark, telephone for a package today. In tablet form only; look for the letters N. I. on every tablet. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. At all druggists.

Sergeant Demands Damages

Herbert Sargent is demanding $20,000 damages from the Norfolk and Western Railway company in an action instituted in Common Pleas court Thursday for personal injuries he claims to have sustained on January 12, 1923, by a car door falling on him.

In his petition, filed through Attorney B. F. Kimble the plaintiff says that at the time he was hurt he was employed by the Portsmouth Stove and Range company and that in attempting to close the sliding door of a box car which had been loaded with manufactured stoves, the door fell from the car onto him, breaking his leg in three places between the knee and hip, and otherwise bruising and lacerating his limbs, head and body. He declares that as a result of the injuries that he has become, and will be permanently maimed and crippled and that he has been wholly incapacitated to work or earn wages. Furthermore, he alleges that the accident was due to the negligence of the defendant company in failing to keep the car door in proper repair.

Petit Jury To Come Back

The petit jury will come back for service in Common Pleas court next Monday when Maurice Brown, Jackson street man, will be put on trial under an indictment charging him with nonsupport of his twin illegitimate children.

Cases on the civil docket will occupy the attention of the court and jury during the remainder of the week.

Chiropractors Going To Jail; Judge McCall Refuses Plea For Woman Made By Eastern Star

Carrying out their expressed intention of going to jail rather than pay the fines assessed against them in Municipal court Monday following their conviction under charges of violation of the limited practitioners' act, Drs. P. D. Parks, D. D. Owen and Omar L. Knechtly were committed to the county institution at Seventh and Court streets Thursday and they will be the "guests" of Sheriff Harry M. Dunham for sometime to come, if plans do not miscarry. The chiropractors entered the bastile shortly after eleven o'clock, in charge of Bailiff George Foehr, and were assigned their old quarters by Sheriff Harry M. Dunham. They declared that it was like getting back home as they were confined there for more than two weeks on a similar charge last May.

The chiropractors were warmly greeted by fellow-prisoners and then they were taken before the Kangaroo court, and although the "judge" doubled the "fine," it was readily paid, the "jurist" commenting that while it was their second time in durance vile, they had been convicted of but a "first offense."

According to present plans Dr. Hazel Knechtly, who was also found guilty Monday of a similar offense, will be transported to the Marysville Reformatory for Women Friday by Bailiff George Foehr and Mrs. Foehr, the sending of Mrs. Knechtly to the state prison being necessary, because under the law a female cannot be sent to a county prison for a period longer than thirty days.

A delegation of members of the Eastern Star lodge, numbering more than a score of women, appeared at the Municipal court office last night and presented a fervent appeal to Judge McCall to suspend the penalty imposed on Mrs. Knechtly, who is a member of the order. They urged that Mrs. Knechtly be spared going to prison, but the court told the delegation he would not interfere with the sentence, unless he was given some assurance that the defendant would cease to violate the law by abandoning the practicing of her profession, at least, until such a time it is made legal under the law. Leaders of the delegation pleaded for nearly an hour in an effort to induce the court to relent, but they finally left disappointed.

Rev. McAfee spent several years in Portsmouth and was a capable pulpit orator.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home in Marion Sunday morning.

DEFEATS WORRYING SAM JONES

Defeat is said to be wearing on Pitcher Sam Jones of the Yankees and the fans are calling him Sad Sam Jones, who does not seem able to get started with a winning club.

"Same day I'll win a game," remarked Jones recently after losing a tough one. "Although the hoodoo had left me last winter, but it apparently has not. It is still hanging on. I've nearly lost as many games in the last two years as I have in my whole career as a pitcher.

"I don't like the moniker of Sad Sam. Up in Boston with the Red Sox, where I pitched, they used to refer to me as 'Happy' Jones.

"I used to win games up there at old Fenway park. The Red Sox were not as strong as the Yankees are today, but they hit behind me.

One season, I led the American league in pitching with a second division club," said Sam to Huggins. "Now with the American league champions runners-up in the world's series, I cannot win half of my games."

Brookhart Demands Aid For Farmers

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Senator Brookhart, Republican of Iowa, returned here today after a trip to Russia and announced that unless President Harding calls an extra session of Congress to help the farmers, the "independents" will see that the reactionaries are relieved of control of committees at the regular session beginning in December. An extra session, Senator Brookhart said, "Would afford the president and the Republican party its last opportunity to control the next Congress."

"It is my opinion," he said, "that unless the President calls an extra session he will have no organization in control of legislation at the regular session.

"We have reached a point where we will not take it out in talk. We are going to do something."

Outlining a legislative plan, Senator Brookhart said he would expect Congress if called in extra session to provide governmental machinery to help the farmers market their staple crops. He would not confine it, he said, to the wheat farmer, but would include the crop grower and the cotton planter.

Selby Outing To Be Monster Affair

The first annual picnic at Selco park for Selby employes and their families will be held next Saturday, July 21.

The committee in charge have left no stone unturned to make this a big event in the history of the factory.

The program prepared shows there will be something doing all the time in the afternoon and early evening. All employes who are going, are to meet with their families at the Selby factory at one o'clock Saturday. Special street cars chartered for this occasion, will be provided for those not having automobiles. Those going by automobile will save a mile walk from the traction car line to the park. The transportation committee endeavored to get a big excursion boat to carry the employes to the park but this was impossible. A Federal law prohibits trains stopping between stations. There is to be a first aid tent on the grounds with capable persons in charge, a checking room for baskets and wraps, a refreshment booth where soft drinks and ice cream may be purchased, a baby camp with tents, cots and baby baskets in the cool of the river bank trees, a sand pile for the smaller boys and girls and races and contests for the older folks, with events planned for both men and women. A baseball game will be staged between two picked nines with "Piggy" Burtrum and Monk doing the mound work. There will also be tennis matches, horseshoe pitching and volley ball. The factory band will furnish music and group singing will be led by Fred Lorey.

Later in the afternoon the following events will be staged: ball driving contest for women, sack race for men, three legged race for men, pipe lighting contest for women, shoe and stocking race for girls, and watermelon race for boys. Suitable prizes will be awarded the winners. The supervisors in charge are W. H. Ruggles, George Gilden, Homer Selby, Edward Westphal, Ed. Poffenberger, Carl Hauck and Dr. C. L. Ferguson.

C. W. Ridenor is to be the clerk at all races with "Mike" Davidson, "Dennie" Thomas and George Cornutte judges. The official starter will be "Chick" Westphal, with Charley Brasie as megaphone operator. There will also be a side show arranged as a feature amusement event. Enough is said when it becomes known that "Chick" Westphal is arranging this show.

A crowd estimated at close to 2,000 is expected to enjoy the picnic. Parking space has been laid out for 250 automobiles.

Gas Office In Chillicothe Gutted By Fire

CHILLICOTHE, O., July 19.—Fire of unknown origin starting in a corner in the rear of the main offices of the Chillicothe Gas, Light and Water Co., building on West Second street, gutted the structure and did damage estimated at about $7,000 before firemen, who did valiant work, put it under control, after two hours of hard work. The building, valued at $5,000, is practically a total loss, with no insurance.

Miss Margaret Murphy, an aged woman, who lived on the second floor, was carried to safety.

Ex-Mayor Davis Of New Boston Denies He Committed Suicide In Chillicothe

"I am not feeling very well but am still alive and glad of it," said Ex-Mayor J. S. Davis today when informed that a man who had committed suicied in Chillicothe was said to resemble him. The man was about 42 years of age, of heavy build, and had been seen about Chillicothe several days. He took his own life by sending a bullet from a 38 calibre revolver into his temple while in the city park. The man died in a hospital a few minutes after he had been taken there. Men in the park found the dying man soon after they heard the fatal shot.

Two local truck men after viewing the body of the suicide assured officials that it was not Ex-Mayor Davis of New Boston.

Scott asserted that he was working there at the time but that he was summoned to Virginia a day or two later by the sickness of his mother. ## Did It Ever Happen To You?

DETROIT, MICH., July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—O. Baranowski, one of the millions who park their flivvers and then forget where they put them, spent all of yesterday afternoon looking for his, enlisting the aid of the police and riding around in a taxi cab for two hours before he found it. The affair, too, had an anti-climax when little Miss Baranowski, who had been parked with the car, expressed her indignation over the entire affair.

Baranowski drove down town and parked the car to run an errand. He returned to the place where he thought he had left the car, but it wasn't there. There were scores of others, all looking alike, but the Baranowski barouche could not be found.

When Baranowski appealed to the police, they told him they could give him no assistance, adding "If we went looking every time some one mislays their automobile, we wouldn't be doing anything else."

Exhausted, Baranowski hired a cab and toured street and boulevard, avenue and alley for two hours until he finally found his machine, just where he had left it.

An indignant little lady in the back seat told her father a few things.

"Just try to get me to go riding again," she said.

Harding's Ship Turns Its Prow Southward

SEWARD, ALASKA, July 19—(By the Associated Press)—The naval transport Henderson, with President Harding, Mrs. Harding and their party aboard, was to leave here early today, steaming out of Resurrection Bay through the recently christened Harding Gateway, and for the first time in two weeks turning her prow southward.

Although the chief executive will visit three more Alaskan cities—Valdez, Cordova and Sitka—he is enroute toward the states for the first time since he left Tacoma, Washington, July 5.

The Henderson is due to arrive at Valdez today and the party is to be road. Here the travelers are to view the scenic Keystone canyon.

Mrs. Harding seemed much refreshed by having passed Tuesday night on the boat. She walked about the deck late yesterday, seemingly to have regained her strength.

The president spent yesterday working on speeches that he will deliver on the Pacific Coast after returning to the states July 27.

It became known that he will discuss foreign relations in an address at San Francisco. It is expected, now that all powers have ratified the Washington arms conference treaties, that the executive will present to the country through his San Francisco address a report on the accomplishment.

Undoubtedly in California, the home state of Senator Herman Johnson, the president will again ask support for his proposal that the United States join the world court.

President Harding is also understood to have tentatively written portions of an address he will deliver at Seattle dealing with Alaska. So far as he has revealed his policy for Alaska, it is based on a study of problems here at close range.

EDDIE'S FRIENDS — The Porter Gets Warm

Criqui Fights For Charity

BY PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 19—(United Press)—Eugene Criqui is a real champion.

The little featherweight war hero is going to return to Paris August 2, no matter what the outcome of his bout with Johnny Dundee, scheduled for the Polo Grounds July 26. He is going back to appear FOR NOTHING against the best featherweight in France. The funds derived from admissions to the bout will be used to aid disabled war veterans.

It is quite a novel experience for a prize-fighter to do anything for nothing. Jess Willard, Luis Firpo, Jack McAuliffe and Floyd Johnson recently staged a benefit for the Milk Fund of New York, and the cash they received would support a million babies for a month.

Jack Dempsey only got $220,000 for boxing fifteen rounds with Tommy Gibbons in what his manager, Jack Kearns, called "a good workout for Dempsey." He was to have received $300,000 for the show, and it was only at the last minute that he showed himself "a good sport" and decided to take a chance on his last $100,000.

If Kearns is a "good sport," what kind of a sport would you call Criqui who, in this advanced day of financial frenzy, is going back to fight FOR NOTHING for the disabled soldiers of France?

* * *

The University of Washington crew seems likely to maintain its championship standard for the next year at least.

The east will have a hard pull to develop anything better than the next Washington crew, which will have six men left over from this year and a big husky freshman crew to pick from.

Out of the boat which beat the Navy, Columbia, Syracuse, Pennsylvania and Cornell in the 'varsity race of the recent Poughkeepsie regatta, there will be only three men lost.

Tidmarsh, the bow oar; Dunn, who rowed No. 3, and Captain Shaw at No. 6, are the only ones to leave. Remaining, there are Dow Walling, the star stroke, who is only a sophomore; Luft, France, Spulm, Durion and Grant, coxwain, who has been elected captain.

The crew of 1923 was the first western crew ever to win the big eastern regatta, but with this formidable material the crew of 1924 should prove still stronger.

It is even doubtful whether some of the regular 'varsity will be able to hold their places against the competition of those in the freshman boat, all of whom approximate the build of Jess Willard and the strength of modern Goliaths.

FEATURES OF YESTERDAY'S GAMES

NEW YORK, July 19.—Number 22 was stuck on Babe Ruth's mirror last night to greet him when he awoke today. He copped his latest homer in yesterday's game with Detroit, when Waite Hoyt held the Tigers to one run and the Yankees won the first game of the series, 4 to 1.

Boston and Chicago broke even in their double header in the Illionis city, Boston winning the first game 6 to 3, and Chicago the second, 11 to 3.

The Cardinals won a fast game from the Giants, 6 to 4, playing in the Polo Grounds, and the Cincinnati Reds, defeating Brooklyn, climbed a little nearer the top of the National League ladder. The Giants and Reds have each lost 30 games, but the Giants have won four more than Cincinnati. The Reds trimmed the Brooklyn team, 8 to 4.

In Cleveland the Senators got one run and then took a little rest while the home team ran around the bases four times.

Although out hit nearly 2 to 1, St. Louis shut out the Philadelphians and took the game, 2 to 0.

In a close fought game in Philadelphia the home team beat Chicago, 7 to 6. Pitisburg took a fall out of Boston, on the latter's grounds, winning 5 to 1.

HOODOO PURSUES DETROIT CLUB

DETROIT, July 19—It is always customary for a losing ball club to have an alibi. The Detroit Tygers are no exception.

Picked by many to make all kinds of trouble for the New York Yankees, the Tygers have so far failed to come up to expectations. The club's showing has been a distinct disappointment.

It was figured that the deal which brought Second Baseman Pratt and Pitcher Collins from Boston to Detroit would make the Tygars. These two players so far have added no material strength to the club.

In the matter of injuries a jinx has been on the trail of the team since the opening of the season. Detroit has suffered more from injuries and illness than any other club in either major league circuit.

"For the first 16 games of the season we had our regular lineup," explains Manager Cobb. "Of those 16 games we won 11 and lost five. No club in the league played better ball during the first three or four weeks of the season.

"Then came aseries of accidents in which every man on the infield has suffered. Third Baseman Jones and First Baseman Blue have been out for weeks.

"Since our sixteenth game of the season we have not once been able to place our regular team in the field. It seems the moment an ailing regular gets back, another one is forced out.

"Had we been able to keep our regular team in the field like the Yanks, we would now be pressing them hard for first place."

Stars To Play Arch Preserver Team

Wiedeman Team Plays Here Sunday

The crack Wiedemann nine of Cincinnati will be the attraction at the Millbrook yard Sunday afternoon when Manager Charley Applegate will pilot his troupe here for an engagement with the Hays Motor aggregation.

The stage is "all set" for a stirring struggle and as this will mark the first appearance of the famous Queen City team here in a couple of years, no doubt the fans will turn out enmasse to observe the pastime and see these two fast clubs in action.

As an added attraction the visitors will likely present a real brother battery in Walter and Tom Conway, the former having a great reputation for shaking a mean fist on the hill, with brother Tom wearing the big mitt. Manager Otha Lewis will likely assign himself the tast of mound duty with Teddy Weber receiving his slants.

The fray will start promptly at 2:30 when Umpire Buck Yeager will set the athletes to work. Popular prices will obtain with no extra charge for grandstand seats.

Fair Board Meets Friday

The weekly meetings of the Scioto County Fair Board to be held the next few weeks will be most important as plans will have to be completed for the 1923 Fair to be held Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 8, 9, 10 and 11th. A meeting of the Board will be held Friday at the Fair grounds. The committee on horse racing is busy getting owners lined up for the race events.

Returned To Jail

NEW WYORK, July 19—Edward M. Fuller and W. Frank McGee, bankrupt bucketeers, were returned to jail to-day for an indefinite period, after Federal Judge Goddard denied a motion to release them from contempt of Court.

The brokers were jailed for failing to surrender certain papers concerning the stock brokerage house of E. M. Fuller and Company, ordered produced by the Supreme Court of the United States.

The application to dismiss the contempt charge was offered after some of the papers had been mysteriously sent to Judge Goddard. Charles H. Griffiths, Jr., who argued the motion as new counsel for Fuller and McGee, indicated that he would appeal from Judge Goddard's decision to the United States Court of Appeals.

Judge Goddard also denied an application of the brokers to change their abode from a local jail to Sing Sing to begin their sentences for bucketing.

Puzzling Plays

By Billy Evans

THE PLAY

Here are two plays involving a foul tip.

There are two strikes on the batter. He swings at the next ball and fouls slightly. It strikes the catcher's protector and bounds off, the catcher recovering the ball before it touches the ground.

Now for play number two.

There are two strikes on the batter. He swings at the next ball, fouling it off. It strikes the catcher between the mask and protector, and is momentarily held in that position. Then it dislodges itself and rolls out, the catcher recovering it before it touches the ground.

What about these two plays?

THE INTERPRETATION

In all cases where the foul tip comes directly off the catcher's protector, after striking same, the batsman is out if the cat

HIS OWN MEDICINE

THE Cincinnati Enquirer, which seems to be gradually leaning towards Harding, is deeply grieved over the result of the Minnesota election. It says it is a sad commentary upon popular rights that many Democrats, it could just as well say all of them, voted therein for the non-partisan candidate, just to embarrass the Harding administration.

We wouldn't say the Democrats showed an upper air and solar conception of their duties as citizens here, but darn 'em, we love 'em because they showed themselves human, and Democrats. Then there are a lot of shallow-pated Republicans that say they ain't smart. Now, wasn't that about the sharpest trick ever pulled off, Mr. Enquirer, no chance to elect a Democrat, so voting to beat the other fellow.

Speaking in an altogether serious vein, however, the Democrats did a good day's work in Minnesota, for two reasons: Men like Magnus Johnson serve a good purpose. Their economic professions may be all warped and tangled, but they are as the sentinels who stand on the housetops to cry warning. They may not know from whence the foe is approaching, but they realize he threatens. Then by helping elect him the Democrats saw to the cutting down of the Republican majority in the senate. That is healthy work, it is superb. An overwhelming legislative majority is a bad situation, a situation filled with potential evil. A huge majority becomes a party machine, run absolutely by the president and by the bosses. Not one member out of ten, no matter, how honest at heart, has the moral courage to stand up against the ruthless majority, for one reason because he knows under such circumstances he can accomplish nothing but his own elimination.

Then that isn't all either Mr. Enquirer. Warren Gamaliel told us, if he were elected he was going to run the nation as a party man. He has been doing that very thing, since elected, though, be admitted he has run neither very certain, nor very swift. He didn't appeal to congressmen and senators to support any of his measures because the measures were good and the fellows he was talking to were citizens and patriots, he simply always said, in effect: "You fellows are Republicans, so vote as I say because I am the Republican party." Sometimes they kicked and made a lot of noise, but they finally voted as he said.

Why not give him a dose of his own medicines. It might teach him to set the lesson to onery Democrats as to how they should vote.

---

The women's independent municipal league commends the village administration of New Boston for enforcing the traffic laws and in the same breath calls upon the city administration of Portsmouth to make those same laws effective therein. It is well the city should have strict regard for traffic regulations, but the comparison the league seems to make isn't a happy one. If it will keep tab on daily chronicles it will find more automobile accidents, especially of a serious nature, in New Boston than in Portsmouth.

---

Fine weather to buy coal. Reminds that next winter some warmth will be needed.

---

Portsmouth is exceedingly busy with building operations, but at that there is too much patching up.

---

Dr. George Washington Carver, a Negro, has invented a process of extracting 165 by-products from one tiny peanut.

---

Somebody has said that Henry Ford is ignorant and doesn't believe in education. Nonsense. Doesn't he advise everybody to get a world wide viewpoint—by subscribing for the Dearborn Independent, his own publication.

---

Evidently the Minnesota Democrats don't believe in wasting their votes. They placed them with the non-partisan league candidate, where they would do the most good.

---

Now the Harding press may proceed to entertain us by telling just why it happened in Minnesota.

---

The Republican candidate in Minnesota would not let Harding be invited to dip into his campaign. Why? Not even he could have made it worse.

---

Prohibitionists should think well of Soviet government in Russia. In the district of Omsk, in one month, it arrested nine hundred operators of illicit stills.

---

In Bulgaria they take profiteers out and give them a public beating. No, it wouldn't do any good to have such a law here. It wouldn't be observed because there wouldn't be any innocent one to wield the lash.

New York=Day=By=Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 19—Valiant efforts by theatrical managers to pep up summer runs that are in an anaemic state have sent them on strange quests. A burlesque show is offering Flo Leeds $1,000 a week to capitalize her affair with James Stillman, the banker.

It all harks back to the days when Oscar Hammerstein's son Willie ran Hammerstein's Victoria on Forty-Second street. Willie headlined scandal figures and packed the old house. When the two girls sent playful bullets after the millionaire Stokes, they appeared at the Victoria as "The Shooting Show Girls."

Their act was a laughable crudity. Carrying pistols in hip holsters and wearing sombreros, they appeared on the stage with a bloodcurdling "Y-i-i-i-pee!" They danced atrociously and their singing was pathetic to hear.

For the first two weeks they played to capacity, but the third week business fell off. The booking agent stepped into Willie Hammerstein's office and found him disconsolate. He rarely talked. "How about the shooting show girls for next week?" he inquired.

Hammerstein twirled around in his chair, eyes blazing: "I wouldn't hire them another week if they shot Taft," he roared. Taft was then president.

Florence Burns after her sensational murder trial was paid $500 a week and Margaret Horton $600 a week. They had nothing but sickly property smiles but they drew well as curiosities.

In recent years vaudeville has frowned on exploiting notorious characters. Evelyn Thaw was the most successful of all. She had some ability and was an indefatigable worker. Vaudeville workers resent the intrusion of those who have achieved notoriety through scandal. Many of them have refused to appear on the same bill.

There is a man in New York who is able to get a free meal at any one of the 380 different first-class restaurants for the rest of his life by the presentation of a gilt-edge meal ticket. The Society of Restaurateurs gave this non revocable card to Capt. Patrick Irving O'Hay, professional warrior, at a public dinner. Captain O'Hay jestingly stated recently he had no fear of a square meal while a war was on; but at times there was a quiescent period between wars and consequently the problem of eating bothered him. So the cafe men fixed him up.

Speaking of eating, a waiter is suing the manager of a gilded sandwich shop for four weeks' back salary of $30 a week. The manager told him he was making too much from tips and cut out the stipend. The waiter admits his tips in serving sandwiches amounted to about $50 a week.

I don't think anything in New York is so boring to the native as the Fifth Avenue parade. There are about two a week. Traffic is shunted to other streets. Shops lose heavily in business and getting across town becomes a feat. It is perhaps the oldest instinct in man—this impulse to strut. It is as primordial as anything I know. Just at the moment a band is prancing down the avenue playing "Tomorrow." That is a popular ditty hallowed with a happy day to me ad I find myself leaving the typewriter and drum majoring up and down the room. Yet, when I see others do the same thing, it appears childish and silly.

---

There goes another band blaring "Toot! Toot! Miss Tootsie!" I am thinking of the day I rode in a League of American Wheelmen meet long ago. I was last in the race and when I turned the curve the handmen booted me. It nearly broke a youthful heart. Those were indeed the sappy days!

The Blush of Conquest.

They tell of the blushing bride
Who to the altar goes,
Down the aisles of the church
Between the friend-filled rows;
There's Billy whom she motored with
And Bob with whom she swam;
There's Jack—she used to golf with him
And Steve who called her "Lamb,"
There's Ted, the football man she owned,
And Don of tennis days;
There's Herbert, too, and blonde Eugene;
They took her to the plays.
And there is Harry, High School beau,
With whom she used to mush.
No wonder she's a blushing bride.
Ye Gods! She ought to blush!

—Jack Oberle.

The Hitch

Tramp—"Yes; once I, too was happily married."

Lady—"And—?"

Tramp—"My wife wasn't."

His One Worry

"Er—I want a pair of gloves for my wife."

Salesgirl—"Yes, sir. Suede, kid or lisle, and how many buttons—2, 4, 6, 8?"

"I don't care how many; just so they don't button up the back!"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

We Wonder Why

Frank—I don't see how you can tell those Smith twins apart.

Hank—That's easy. Mable always blushes when she sees me.—Princeton Tiger.

The Terror

Bess—Why do you look so afraid every time you see an automobile?

Jess—A chauffeur ran away with the misses and I'm afraid he's going to bring her back.

Restless

"My, my, Charlie is wearing himself out, walking the floor all night about a little money matter between us. I told him not to worry; just to go to bed and sleep, but he walks and walks and groans terribly."

"Just because he owes you money? How foolish!"

"Oh, no, not because he owes me money. Because he lent me some."

Fair Words

Pretty Girl (who has been taken half a mile beyond her destination)—It's really too bad; I told you when I first got in where I wished to be set down.

Bus Conductor—Well, miss, I let you get out as soon as ever I could find it in my 'art to part with you.

A Wasted Crime

"What did the jury do with the beautiful defendant?"

"Brought in a compromise verdict."

"A compromise verdict?"

"Not guilty, but don't go into vaudeville."

Pat's Arithmetic

"Ar ye please, sorr, Oi'll have me month's wages according to agrayment."

"What's that?" said his employer. "You haven't been with us 30 days."

"Oi came on the twentieth av lasht month."

"I know you did, but—"

"An' isn't this the tinth av April? An' don't twintyean' tin make thirty?"

Wonderful About Flags

Extract from a conversation overheard Memorial day on a street car.

"Who do you think will win the race today?"

"I think Tommy Milton will win it."

Interrogator, looking out of the window—"Well, I hope it don't rain today. Say, I wonder why that fellow has all those flags out on his front porch."—Indianapolis News.

Fair Question

Theatregoer—Are we late?

Usher—Well, they've already played one act.

"Ah—which one?"

Premature

Woman Friend—No wonder Edith won't look at you. It's your own fault. You act like a slave—fawning and cringing before her, as if you didn't dare to call your soul your own.

Mr. Wormley—Don't women like that kind of thing?

Woman Friend—Um—not until after marriage.

Wise Jottings

The older a woman grows the fewer adjectives she uses.

A peach of a girl ought to become a well-preserved woman.

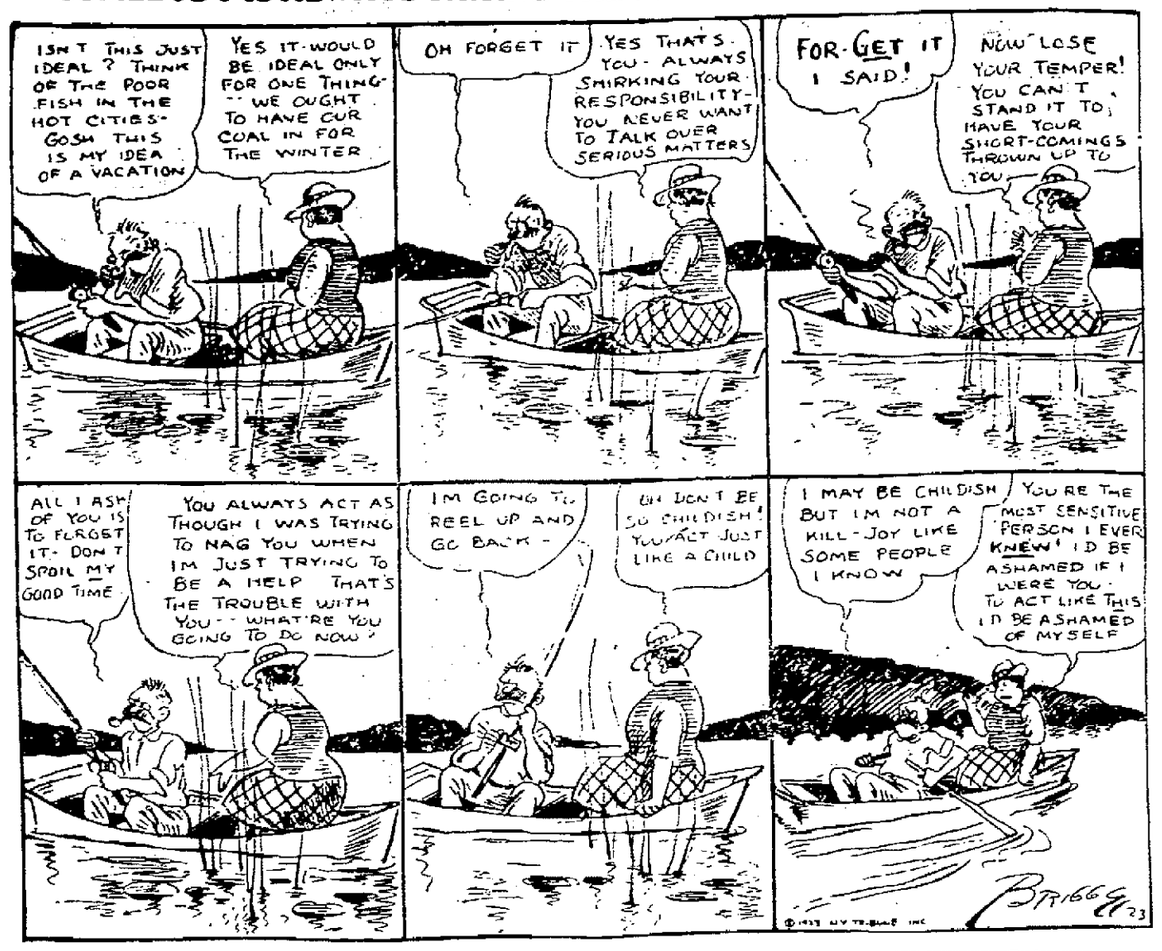

In the matrimonial library the most important book is the checkbook.

A woman always has a tender feeling for a man who pays her a compliment.

An old bachelor is a man who has never met the one woman he couldn't live without.

One never knows how foolish some men can act until they suddenly break into the father class.
